TERMS OF REFERENCE

APPOINTMENT OF A SUITABLY QUALIFIED AND COMPETENT ENTITY THAT HAS THE REQUIRED CAPACITY TO ENTER INTO A COMMERCIAL AGREEMENT WITH SAFCOL TO ESTABLISH SAFCOL'S POLE TREATMENT CAPACITY.

1 DESCRIPTION OF THE OPPORTUNITY

1.1 Introduction

The South African Forestry Company SOC Ltd (SAFCOL) is a state-owned forestry company listed as a Schedule 2 major public entity in terms of the Public Finance Management Act 1 of 1999. It was established in 1992 following the promulgation of the Management of State Forest Act 128 of 1992 to promote the development in the long term of the forestry industry according to accepted commercial management practice in South Africa.

One of SAFCOL's key focus areas for the next financial year is to ensure that progress is made against the development of pole treatment capacity – as this aligns to SAFCOL's competitive position (growing stock favourable to pole treatment) as well as the market / opportunity. Successful execution of the approved growth strategy of SAFCOL is dependent on the company increasing its internal capacity of converting raw material (trees) into value added products. Opportunities in the pole market provide a valuable opportunity due to the increasing value derived from the high demand of poles in South Africa and Africa at large. This is also enhanced by the shorter rotation to harvest Eucalyptus as compared to pines. Currently, SAFCOL has pole material planted in the Central (4 024 ha) and North (1 168 ha) regions. The plantations in these regions, produce up to 60% yield as transmission poles and the balance of the product mix is sold as building and fencing material, and a smaller proportion as pulp wood. Pole products are mostly utilised for transmission lines, building, fencing and sign posts.

The biggest consumers of treated poles are state-owned entities followed by farmers. As a result of numerous enquiries on the possible supply of treated poles, SAFCOL developed a business plan that confirmed the viability of vertical integration in the pole treatment space and profitability of developing capacity for the treating of the same.

In the recent past SAFCOL pursued several options to respond to market demand for treated poles and subsequently considered the development of its own treating plant capacity. SAFCOL owns two decommissioned treating plants located at Blyde and Redhill sites. However, certification, environmental implications, requisite skills and the dilapidated state of the existing plants hindered the pursuit of developing internal capacity. Additionally, SAFCOL developed a business plan for operating a treating plant in Sabie but due to cost, certification, environmental and skills considerations the plan couldn't be implemented. SAFCOL also investigated the take-over of DAFF owned treatment plants located in Limpopo, but due to length limitations of treating cylinders, age of the plants (using old technology), costly maintenance and proximity to material and clients, this option was not pursued further.

SAFCOL's vision is to be a leader in sustainable forests and commercial forest products, which extends to the capability of generating value from its products. The following key limitations are currently identified as presenting financial risks to SAFCOL:

- SAFCOL is selling primarily logs, with limited downstream processing.
- SAFCOL does not have a competitive cost structure relative to the commoditised market and is therefore uncompetitive; and

- As SAFCOL has not ventured into the higher value specialised product market, it must compete on cost. As a result, SAFCOL is at risk of being financially unsustainable in a constrained environment because it is unable to compete and has to diversify its product offering and increase specialisation of products sold, thereby moving away from commodity competition to value addition. This will give SAFCOL a competitive advantage in the pole market because the raw material is readily available.

SAFCOL is exploring the treatment of poles as part of its vertical integration and revenue diversification strategy. A business plan developed for the establishment of a pole treatment plant confirmed the viability of such a venture.

1.2 Objectives of the opportunity

The short rotation of Eucalyptus trees results in higher revenue and profits more frequently compared to the longer rotation age of pine trees. Eucalyptus trees can be harvested up to three times before pine trees reach their maturity at 30 years. In addition, the average price of eucalyptus pole material (logs) is less than a third of the average price of treated pole products. However, the value adding cost for upgrading raw material into treated products are substantially lower than production costs in a sawmill. According to Forestry SA reports, the treated pole segment has attained the highest price growth from 2008 to 2016 surpassing the pulp segment in terms of price growth. The value add ratio (output to input factor) for treated poles far exceeds other forest products segments.

Furthermore, SAFCOL has social compacts with surrounding communities and land claimants. Thus, production of pole products may be attractive to land claim beneficiaries to shorten rotation and result in more frequent cash generation. Additionally, small businesses will benefit from providing contracting services for infield preparation and logistics, etc.

The transmission pole segment is bound to grow in line with the establishment of new urban and rural settlements. The treated poles market is experiencing increased demand locally and in other African countries. The results of the Urban-Econ Feasibility Study (2018) show that vertical integration into pole treating will optimise profitability of eucalyptus plantation in the Central and North regions. The report also highlighted that partnerships will speed up the attainment of treating capacity, ensure transfer of skills, and immediately generate revenue whilst incurring lower investments costs.

Within the context of the above rationale, the strategic objectives for developing pole treating capacity are as follows:

- Diversification of revenue streams resulting in a wider revenue base, thus mitigating risk of market failure in the current revenue streams;
- Contribute to the vertical integration strategy by adding value-adding to pole material;
- To drive SAFCOL's Africa strategy through exporting poles to arid countries such as Namibia and Botswana;
- Increased partnerships with other SOC's and elevating the status of SAFCOL to one of electricity components supplier.
- Respond to the transmission poles demand from Eskom and demand from municipalities and SANRAL;
- To increase benefits to land claimants through more frequent revenue generation and participation in the value chain.
- To support timber frame structures ventures through the supply of CCA treated lumber.

- To contribute to Government policy objectives since the investment will result in industrial upgrading and enhanced competitiveness.
- To invest in new skills in technology and production, which will result in the creation of skilled work opportunities.
- To drive rural economic development and job creation through the creation of community-owned entities for the preparation and transporting of infield logs; and
- To improve environmental compliance through partnering with established plants that are already complying with stringent treating chemicals regulations.

1.3 Opportunity

SAFCOL has identified strategic partnerships as a key to drive its economic viability and growth, as well as to contribute to its developmental mandate. SAFCOL is committed to entering into partnerships, which create value not only for SAFCOL and associated parties, but also for the surrounding communities, the local and national economy. However, SAFCOL alone cannot contribute the capital, expertise and other resources required to take advantage of these opportunities. SAFCOL recognises the role that the private sector could play in these projects, which formed the basis for inviting expressions of interest from external parties in the first quarter of 2020. The response received from this exercise was sufficient to demonstrate that there is appetite in the market for such a project.

SAFCOL intends to collaborate with an entity that has the existing infrastructure to treat poles, and will be able to provide technical expertise and the technical capacity to implement such a partnership/commercial agreement and ensure the success of the project, and the delivery of benefits to SAFCOL, its preferred partner and communities. The partnership may require approvals from the SAFCOL Board and Shareholder.

1.4 Services to be performed

The successful company is required to perform the following services:

- Production of Creosote and CCA treated wooden transmission, utility, communications and agricultural poles for the use in electrical distribution, telecommunication, and the agricultural and building sectors;

1.5 Location

SAFCOL has pole production plantations in both Mpumalanga and Limpopo. Table 1 below indicates the pole production plantations of SAFCOL, the province and nearest town to the plantation, as well as the plantation area.

Table 1: SAFCOL's Pole Producing Plantations

Plantation	Province	Town	Area (Ha)
Witklip	Mpumalanga	White River	212
Bergvliet	Mpumalanga	Sabie	2 375
Wilgeboom	Mpumalanga	Graskop	1 437
Sub-Total	Mpumalanga		4 024
Woodbush	Limpopo	Tzaneen	222
Entabeni	Limpopo	Levubu	945
Total			5 192

Source: SAFCOL, 2018.

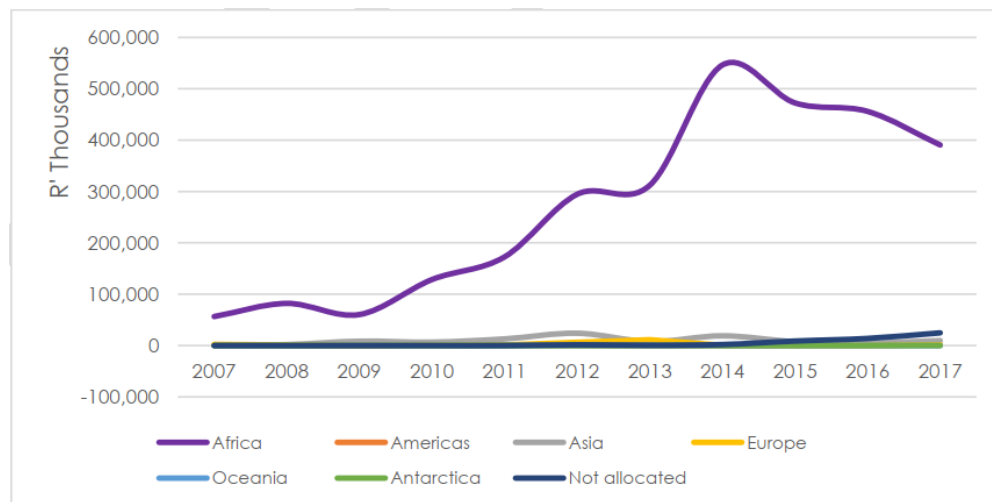

According to Table 1, it is clear that most of the plantations are situated in Mpumalanga, and the biggest area is in Sabie with 2 375 hectares. A smaller portion is in Limpopo. Therefore, SAFCOL anticipates entering into agreements with reputable, competent and qualifying companies for the treatment of poles as close as possible to these plantations to minimise the cost of logistics, thereby increasing the viability of the anticipated agreement. The source plantations for raw material will be SAFCOL’s Bergvliet and Wilgeboom plantations. Ideally the service provider’s facilities should be within a radius of 250 km from these plantations.

1.6 Raw Material Availability and Markets

SAFCOL projections indicate that approximately 546 000 m³ of raw material can be produced over the following ten years (2023 – 2032) that will be suited for transmission and building and fence pole production.

In Figure 1 below the export of wood treated with paint, stain, creosote or other preservatives, from South Africa to various countries around the world is indicated.

Source: SAFCOL Pole Treatment Plan, 2019

The African regions are the biggest market for these products, as the developing countries import the products for their development requirements. Other countries have a demand for these products, and the growth has been stable, and has started increasing since 2016.

The export market over the last 4 years had a demand of between 1 077 110 to 4 715 121 poles (dependent on pole lengths). The Africa market absorbed 91% of these poles, which indicates a viable market for exportation of treated wood products in Southern Africa.

1.7 Partnership/Commercial Agreement

The Partnership/Commercial Agreement will be subject to negotiations by all parties involved and made available shortly after the bid is awarded to the successful bidder. The term of the Partnership/Commercial Agreement shall be for ten (10) years from the Effective Date, subject to early termination in accordance with the Partnership/Commercial Agreement. Renewal will be based on the achievement of agreed-upon performance targets. Effective Date is defined as either the Operation Commencement Date or Signature date.
